Note:

The original articles include legal documents, detailed lists of Alcaldes ordinarios of Santa María Del Rosario, statistics from the 1899 and 1907 census data, etc. In this condensed version, the letters from the King of Spain have been excerpted, with language modernized and punctuation added, to increase legibility in English.

Surrounded by picturesque palm-studded hills, the old City of Santa María del Rosario reposes four leagues to the windward of Havana. It is joined, by a wide and beautiful highway, to the settlement of Cotorro, where the Havana Central tramway pass. On the silvery ribbon of that highway, between emerald hills, is found the City, reached from the Capital by thirty minutes of comfortable travel...

After a sharp turn in the highway, one reaches the beautiful plaza of La Unión, circled by the most important buildings, among them the Church, City Hall, Recreational Society, and homes of prominent community members. At the end of the highway, just before leaving town, one encounters the bathing resort of Santa María.

Between enormous boulders surrounding the establishment, serpentine streams of crystalline water twist, comparable in mineral richness to the celebrated San Diego and the aristocratic Saratoga. Precious fountains of health and life generously offer relief and healing to those who flock annually to the springs...

The first historical data of interest regarding Santa María del Rosario refer to its founding and management, and are found in the Real Cédula of April 4, 1732:

The King--"Since the Count of Casa Bayona has informed me, in his letter of March 13, 1728, of the growing number of slaves at his Quiebra Hacha sugar mill ...it becomes possible to found, as requested, a new City known as Santa María del Rosario, and a Dominican convent for education of residents...under the following stipulations:

"First: That the population be known as suffragan, and that as such it enjoy the rights, statutes, privileges, terms, jurisdictions, which are granted to such cities.

"Second: That the City be titled Santa María del Rosario, because the Count wishes to found it in that name, so that it will always enjoy her special protection.

"Third: That for its locality two caballerías of land be designated, next to the Count's estate, of the best land, supplied with fresh water.

"Fourth: That thirty founding families be designated and registered, that these be selected by the Count from among non-owner residents of the vicinity of Havana, that they be proven free of Moorish, Indian, Black, mulatto and recently converted blood...

"Fifth: ...the thirty founders will be granted the privileges and honors, according to law, as hijosdalgos and noblemen, with the honors and privileges of such, so that by this means the settlement will be permanent, will increase greatly...for security and my royal service...

"Sixth: That each of the thirty founders be graciously given a plot of land twenty yards wide and forty yards deep, without any charge, so that each can build a home and be its rightful owner.

Seventh: That all of the thirty principal founders construct homes of equal quality, without straw or adobe, constructed of lobadillo, with merlons...beautiful and delightful to the view...

Eighth: That the plots be divided into four sections in such a way that each faces a plaza...

Ninth: That eight streets extend from the plaza, two from each corner...so that at a glance one can view the entire settlement.

Tenth: That in addition to the two caballerías of land designated for founding the City, another two caballerías, and more if necessary, be reserved for growth of the City.

Eleventh: That the Count be obliged to give each founder the land needed, up to three caballerías, for farming, at the prices, and conforming to the utility and convenience of the land...where each should have a pair of oxen, six hens and one good rooster, one work horse and another to ride, without the necessity of mares, which are abundant on the Island, nor sheep, because suitable lands for raising them are not available.

Twelfth: That with the remaining lands not needed by the founders, the Count can do as he wishes, reserving them for orchards, gardens and fields, he being the principal founder, his home incorporated into the City.

Thirteenth: That after he has delivered to the founders their lots, as I've instructed, he should dispose of the remaining lots on the designated lands, selling them at the prices and in the manner I indicate...

Fourteenth: That a Chapel serve the Parish in the new city, close to the homes, decent and of good construction, with a clergyman to say mass and administer the Holy Sacraments...

"Fifteenth: That with my approval a Convent be constructed within the City, with twelve priests of the Order of Preachers of the Province of Santa Cruz of the Indies, in reverence to San José, the Church being built with a sacristy, twelve cells for habitation, adobe walls for cloisters and other necessary offices, and with thirty-five thousand pesos for maintenance and expenses of the Church, with bread and wine...

"Sixteenth: That for administration of the Holy Sacraments a Church, separate from the Convent, be constructed to serve the Parish...

"Seventeenth: That all the ornaments of the Church be provided, including vestments, gowns... girdles... wine vessels, processional candle holders, silver lamps, three decorated altars, and everything needed for worship and celebration of the divine offices, without being obliged to exceed the necessary, useful and convenient.

"Eighteenth: That on the primary arch of the Church...my royal arms be represented, with their golden mark, and that others, of the Count's choice, be placed in an inferior location which I will designate.

"Nineteenth: A term of five years is conceded to establish the City... during that time the thirty founders and their families should be registered, their houses constructed...

"Twentieth: That if during that time...I should raise the number of founders to fifty, with the same conditions as previously stated, it be understood that these receive the same privileges as the others...

"Twenty-first: That by virtue all the honors, superiority, exceptions, liberties, and civil and criminal jurisdictions be conceded to the heir named by the Count during his lifetime...

"Twenty-second: That he be served with honor, granted the mercy of the Dominion...considering the expenses...caused by the population of the City...

"Twenty-third: That all the agreements and conditions contained in the twenty-two previous articles be adhered to by the Count of Casa Bayona...on the condition that without my royal confirmation and approval of agreements, no action be taken.....this being my will convened in service of God and myself.

Signed in Sevilla, the fourth of April, 1732— I THE KING—By mandate of our King our Lord: D. Miguel de Villanueva--170r--Appearing with three rubrics...this being a copy of the original in the Archive of the Excmo. Count de Casa Bayona--bearing a seal which reads: Illustrious Municipality."

Upon the death of José Bayona, under oath, he had left his titles and property to his nephew D. Francisco Chacón y Torres, but as the Governor Captain General did not acknowledge his faculties, D. Francisco directed the matter to the King, who made a Royal Decree on June 23, 1765:

"THE KING--It being that D. Francisco Chacón y Torres, Count of Casa Bayona and neighbor of the City of Havana, is not represented by various documents...

"It being advised by Don Juan de Prados that during the English expedition against the plaza of Havana, five hundred well-prepared armed men were sent...and at the same time provisions, supplies, and the produce of his lands, in assistance.

"That once the English were expelled, he dedicated his own expenses to repairing the damage to the City of Santa María del Rosario, retrieving the dispersed and sheltering those who had suffered losses, providing thirty thousand pesos, at the risk of losing most of it...all of which has been in my Royal service and for the public good...I have resolved to prolong to the stated acting Count of Casa Bayona, for two lifetimes, the first grace conceded to his uncle... —I THE KING--By mandate of the King our Lord"

Notes: ...according to the...Real Cédula of April 4, 1732, the founding families were as follows:

This 1899 census was taken by Eduardo Zamora, Juan Pons, José Pons, and Manuel María Rodríguez.

In 1907 the population was represented by 2,906 whites, 287 foreign-born white, 389 blacks, 329 mestizos and 4 chinese. Of which 3,573 were Cubans, 269 were Spaniards, 2 were Americans, 4 were Chinese, 50 Africans and 17 from other countries.

In 1907 the population included 781 farmers, fishermen and miners, 17 professionals, 253 domestic and personal servants, 212 merchants and transport service, 97 manufacturer, and 2555 without occupation.

This census of 1907 was taken by Eduardo Zamora, Leandro Lozano, Manuel Núñez and Leonicio Cartaya
y Oliva.

The period of reconcentración resulted in a loss of half the population, an immense sacrifice which should always remind us of the need to protect the independence gained by rivers of blood and oceans of tears. During the war for Independence, nearly all the farm homes and fields were destroyed by fire. With little more than tenacity of will, the Cuban peasants built new homes, and irrigated the land with the sweat of their brows. We, who benefit from the fruit of the efforts of so many sacrificed generations, are obligated to preserve and carry our nation forward along the path of progress, beneath the shade of the flag of liberty.

Marriages 1745 to 1908

The transcriptions from the Cathedral of ^{Santa Clara, LV} ~~Santiago de Cuba, Oriente~~, are of selected families that were being studied at the time by Francisco Xavier de Santa Cruz and his associates.

The extractions cover the years ~~1690~~ ¹⁷⁴⁵ ~~to 1908~~ ^{1709 1907}. This first part ends with the year ~~1745~~, and was published in ~~Vol.7 No. 2~~. The rest of the entries are in this second part, from ~~1745~~ to 1908.

The information contained in the following listing has the same format as previously used. To recap: The surname and given name are found first, followed by the sex of the individual, the date of the marriage, a letter indicating whether the individual listed is the one being married (M), or is associated genealogically (G); this G follows the names of parents or other spouses and witnesses, if any. The numbers at the very end refer to the page and entry number of the original transcription. These are helpful in looking at the individuals identified in a given entry and may also be used for further reference in corresponding with CGS to get a printout of the entry as it appears in the original transcription.
